CEMENT PROMENADE LAID NEARLY MILE IN LENGTH

Shelden-Columbian Addition Now Has Three-Quarters of Mile of Cement Sidewalk on Its Main Thoroughfare, and Balance Will be Laid Next Week.

There was completed this week a cement sidewalk extending fully three-quarters of a mile in length, on the main thoroughfare of the new Shelden-Columbian addition, Lake View, just east of town, and by the end of next week an additional quarter of a mile will be laid through the Park addition, making a mile of cement promenade, extending from the eastern terminus of the Houghton County Tract, to the Lake Royale mill.

Anderson & Son, the well known Houghton contractors, built the sidewalk in the Lakeview addition, and the job is an unusually good one. The walk is on the south side of the thoroughfare, and now makes a jump to the Lake Royale mill a pleasure. By the end of next week the sidewalk in the Park addition will have been completed and connected to that of the Lakeview addition, giving a continuous five-foot walk for the entire distance.

Contractors Stoyko & Michels are still working on the street improvements in Lakeview and expect to finish up their work this fall. Many lots are being sold in the new town, but aside from this the comfort afforded teams, automobiles and pedestrians is worthy of mention. The roadway from East Houghton to a point beyond Lake Royale mill will, when completed, rival that of any country road in the state.

Team and automobile traffic is now barred from the main highway, a new street south being used, but before snow flies the modernized thoroughfares will be thrown open to the public. It is the general consensus that Lakeview will be the most palatial residential district in Michigan within a few years. Many new homes are being contracted for and they will be well under way next summer.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter R. Fruit left yesterday afternoon for Detroit, where Mr. Fruit becomes pastor of the Preston M. E. church.

James E. W. Martin has gone to Ann Arbor to enter the University of Michigan.

The Houghton and L'Anse-au-Loup school football teams met at Hancock this afternoon.

The annual meeting of the county board of supervisors will be held here one week from next Monday, October 11.

WORK ON NEW HOMES.

Contractor Davis Rushing Construction Work at King Philip Mine. Contractor Davis of Houghton is rushing work on new buildings at the King Philip mine location. There are now twenty-five houses being occupied by employees at the property, fourteen more are to be built and of this number the frame work for seven of them is already up. An additional large force of carpenters have been put on the job to help rush it through before rough weather sets in.

These new dwellings will be thoroughly modern excepting they will be without steam heat. There will be electric lights and other conveniences which will add to the comfort of living in them. The new houses will be in roomy offices.

Dr. W. S. Jackson has left for a week's hunting trip to Lake Gogebic. W. J. Daly of the Lake Superior produce Co., is home from a business trip to New York.

Victor Burman of South Range has returned from a business trip to Utah mining points.

SUPERVISORS WILL SELECT COUNTY DEPOSITORY SOON

Board Will Designate Institution in Which the Funds Will be Deposited at Annual Meeting—Act of Legislature Authorizes County to Get Interest on Money.

One of the most important duties of the county board of supervisors at its annual meeting on Oct. 11, will be the designation of a depository or depositories for county funds. This must be done this fall, according to Act 99 of the public acts of 1909 and the new provision is well thought of by taxpayers, not only because of the safeguards to the county funds that it offers, but because the county can realize on its deposits, something that it has not been able to do heretofore.

Act No. 99 authorizes the county board of supervisors to establish an official depository for county funds, the county clerk first asking every bank in the county for bids, the ones offering the highest rate of interest, being allowed the keeping of the county money. The county treasurer and the banks in which the county funds are kept then have a settlement Dec. 31 and June 30, all interest accruing to be deposited to the credit of the county.

The Houghton county treasurer often has more than a million dollars which he handles in the course of a year and the interest on this large sum would mean considerable to the county.

Bank Must Give Bond.
The act further provides that the bank which becomes the official depository must execute and deliver to the board of supervisors a good and sufficient bond in an amount at least equal to the maximum to be deposited in such bank, with sureties approved by the board and the prosecuting attorney of the county.

It is also provided that when any larger sum of money is deposited in the official depository by the county treasurer than the amount of bonds given, then the bank must take out new bonds to equal the additional amount on deposit, or the surplus be placed in some other bank that will give sufficient surety.

County Draws Interest.
There are a number of good features about the new act. In the first place the county gets a little return in the way of interest. Furthermore the county treasurer is relieved of considerable responsibility. In case a bank which has been chosen as the official depository suspends payment, the county is not a loser, for the reason that every cent of the county's money on deposit is amply protected by sureties.

It is not thought that the banks in the county will make any great rush for the county funds, but that they will be divided up, possibly one bank at the county seat being designated as a depository and another in this city. The board of county supervisors has the authority to designate as many depositories as it deems safe and convenient.

Peculiar Customs in Vogue.
Some peculiar customs have been in vogue in the past relative to the keeping of the county funds, not only in this county but in others, and the new act was undoubtedly passed to do away with unsafe methods.

Heretofore it has been optional with county treasurers where they should place their county's money. They could keep it in the proverbial "sock" if they cared to, and many times the bonds were not sufficient to cover the amount they had in their keeping.

Thomas Wivel and Miss Mary Johnson were married by Rev. Walter R. Fruit Thursday evening.

THREE NEW PASTORS TO ASSUME CHARGES SUNDAY

Recently Named Pastors of Grace M. E. and Presbyterian Church of Houghton and Hurontown M. E. Church Will Occupy Pulpits Here for First Time at Tomorrow's Services.

Three new pastors will occupy local pulpits tomorrow, this being their first appearance as appointed pastors in the district. At Grace Methodist church Rev. A. B. Sutcliffe is here to succeed Rev. Walter R. Fruit, transferred to Detroit; at the Presbyterian church Rev. Frank B. Knowles of Iron Mountain succeeds Rev. J. M. Linn, resigned, while at the Hurontown M. E. church Rev. Prout succeeds Rev. Henry Rogers, transferred.

All of the new pastors have arrived and they will make their initial appearance before the local congregations tomorrow morning. Rev. Knowles, the new Presbyterian pastor, is the only minister of the trio who has previously been heard by the congregation of which they will become head. Mr. Knowles preached here at the Presbyterian church some three weeks ago, at which time he made such a favorable impression that a formal call to become pastor was at once tendered him.

The Methodist changes were made at the recent Detroit conference. The departure of Rev. Fruit and Rogers from the Houghton territory are regretted, but their successors will be warmly received.

The hours of service in the several churches will be as usual. No programs have been announced. Masses at St. Ignace and Trinity services will be as usual, and there will be the customary Salvation Army meetings. The Christian Science congregation will hold its usual meeting tomorrow morning at 10:45, the subject being "Unreality."

The association plans to improve an extensive area of ground where baseball and other games will be played and will have a structure for hockey in the winter.

ROLLER SKATING TONIGHT.

Crack Australian Skater Will Open Season at Amphidrome.

The roller skating season at the Amphidrome will open this evening, to continue until ice making is possible in the big resort. As a feature for the opening week Manager McNamara has secured the services of Hector De Sylva, a crack Australian skater, who will appear tonight and all next week, that is on the nights the rink is open for skating.

During the summer months roller skating was discontinued in Houghton, but now that cool weather has again set in the sport gives promise of being as popular as ever. There are many devotees of roller in Houghton and Hancock and the big resort is always crowded on skating nights.

OPEN HOTEL THIS MONTH.

Announcement is made that the Winona hotel will be thrown open to the public October 15, or in about two weeks. The building is owned by the Bosch Brewing company and is sub-let to J. Fournier, who will conduct a hotel and saloon. The location is admirably selected, being a short distance from the depot and midway between the station and location.

There are nine rooms on the second floor for the accommodation of the public, the traveling public and local people are assured of the very best attention.

READY TO BOOK PICNICS.

White City Company Will be Fully Organized by Next Week.

The articles of incorporation of the White City Co., organized this week, are expected back from Lansing Monday or Tuesday, and as soon as they are filed with the county clerk, the company expects to commence active work on its big amusement resort at Portage Entry. Manager Labb announces that he is even now ready to book picnics and other outings for next summer. He plans on taking care of considerable of this class of business, and believes societies, lodges, churches, and others who contemplate outings would do well to book their dates this fall or winter.

Mr. Labb has, during his brief residence here, become mighty popular and everything points to the success of his venture. He announces he will at once start work on the erection of cottages and the various amusement devices which will make up the White City and that the work will be prosecuted until winter stops operations. Early in the spring work will be resumed and by the latter part of May the big resort will be ready for its formal opening.

THE STOCK MARKET—

The so-called eighth wonder, Steel Common, has so completely overshadowed the entire stock market by its unprecedented advance, that as a rule movements in other issues have not been noticed. Steel yesterday advanced to $92, a rise of almost ten points in a week's time. Of course the move is largely manipulative, but because of the large amount of stock outstanding it is readily apparent that behind this manipulation there is a reason for the advance. This can be ascribed only to the general betterment of business conditions.

Copper is the laggard. It has not shown the revival of interest apparent in most other lines. Steel and iron trades report an influx of business which can be handled only with difficulty. Not only are conditions bright in these lines at the moment, but prospects for the future are equally favorable.

There is every factor conducive to an active stock market. The public has money which it wants to invest. Business conditions are favorable and the technical position of the market is just right. All that remains is to get stocks down a little to permit the public to get in, not at top prices.

Of course the metal market does not afford great encouragement for an active copper share market. An effort is being made to get better control of the copper situation both at home and abroad. The success of such a plan would mean decidedly higher prices for copper stocks.

For the present we believe that activity will be confined to specialties. Efforts have been made to boom the so-called Calumet & Hecla issues, but this is discouraged by the officers of the big company. Among the dividend payers Oaseola, Calumet & Arizona, Utah Copper and Mohawk. Among the lower priced stocks, Butte Coalition, Cumberland Ely, Alex Scott, Hancock and Live Oak look attractive and will advance easily in the event of a higher copper market.

THE METAL MARKET—

Sales of copper were made in considerable quantity yesterday at 13 1/4 cents per pound. Transactions so far have not been in any heavy lots, yet the buying has been much better than a week ago. Cables from abroad indicate a like condition of affairs there. October should prove a good month as far as the sale of copper is concerned.

As near as can now be ascertained the September figures of the Copper Producers' association, which are to be made public next week, will show a further increase in the surplus stock of $10,000,000 to 15,000,000 pounds. This is due largely to the lighter demand from abroad. The home consumption remains about the same as the month before. By the time the figures are published the stock market will have discounted them to a large degree.

On all sides reports of the likelihood of increased demand for the red metal are heard. As an example the recent act of the Chicago council serves well. The city of Chicago has ordained that all railroads must electrify their lines within a radius of eight miles of the city hall, and this to be done by 1912. To accomplish this plans must be immediately prepared by the various lines, and the copper which will be used in this work will amount to an enormous sum. It is quite likely that there will be a fight made against it by the railroads, but it indicates the trend of affairs. In New York City several railroads have already prepared plans for the electrification of their lines. In the far west a similar course is to be followed.

European copper statistics on Oct. 1 showed the visible supply of the metal to be 53,850 tons, an increase for the month of 5,626 tons. The visible supply is equal to only a little more than one month's production of the world's copper mines.

GREENE CANANEA—

So much question of late has arisen because of the continued weakness of Greene-Cananea that many shareholders are becoming discouraged. As a matter of fact the physical condition of the property is excellent.

There is absolutely nothing about the mine which would contribute in the least to the condition of the stock marketwise.

Another source must be investigated in order to advance any theories on the subject. Naturally the first which is suggested is the inquiry set afoot by the minority Greene Consolidated shareholders something over a year ago. While the committee in charge of this investigation has made no final report it is known that they have not abandoned their original plans. While no report has been made of any nature it is believed that the committee is quietly pursuing its investigations, and when the proper time arrives will take such steps as are deemed advisable.

The minority Greene shareholders advance as their grievance the fact that no satisfactory explanation has been given them of the disposition of the large surplus in the Greene treasury. The sale of 200,000 shares of Cananea Central stock at $20 per share placed $4,000,000 in the company's treasury. In addition to this the Sierra Madre Land company deal has not been considered a satisfactory one. Greene shareholders believe that their company now ought to have a considerable balance in cash, sufficient to declare a dividend of at least $4 per share. These stockholders believe that the rehabilitation of the company's smelting plant and other costs attendant to resuming operations should not have been so heavy as to have eaten into the proceeds of the Cananea Central stock.

There was a report circulated a few days ago that a settlement might be effected on a basis of exchange of Greene stock, one share for one and one-half shares of Greene Cananea, and in addition a cash dividend of $4 per share. This lacks confirmation from any source considered in the least authoritative. If such an exchange were effected it would have to be brought about as a deal between individuals rather than between the company and its shareholders.

For the present it looks very much like a waiting game with efforts made to tire out Greene Consolidated shareholders. The majority are determined, though, to see the matter through to the end, which alone adds weight to the report that a compromise might be brought about.

At the present time Greene-Cananea is working a force of approximately 2,500 men. When Col. Greene was at the head of the company there were about 4,000 men on the payroll, so that the saving already brought is about obvious. The company is supplying ore to six out of its battery of eight furnaces. Nor are those six taxed to capacity. Were it deemed advisable Greene-Cananea could now be producing at the rate of almost 70,000,000 pounds of the red metal instead of its present rate of around 40,000,000 pounds.

The cost of producing copper is given at approximately 10 cents per pound, according to a statement recently made by a director of the company. On a basis of 13 cents per pound for copper Greene Cananea now would show earnings of 50 cents per share.

From a private source we learn that the company has extended its ore reserves beyond the point ever before attained. This has been done without going to any considerable depth. In fact, below 1,000 feet the company's vast holdings are yet unexplored. The Capote mine is its deepest workings, and in the lowest level it has opened up good commercial ore.

We can see but little ahead for Greene Cananea shareholders for the immediate future, and it may develop that the stock will sag off further. For the person who has patience the stock is one which can be held until present difficulties will have been adjusted. It is rather difficult to advise as to the course to follow with the shares. It might be well to dispose of the stock with the view of getting into something of greater activity, but with the idea of later repurchasing Greene-Cananea stock, which must ultimately sell much higher.
